

Traumatic Brain Injury Long Term Care & Rehabilitation Program

Traumatic brain injury (TBI) is a complicated injury that affects each person with different disabilities and symptoms. It can be difficult for individuals and their families to adjust to the physical, mental, emotional and behavioral changes that occur after a pervasive trauma.

Sharon Healthcare has developed a comprehensive rehabilitation program to assist participants in developing cognitive skills, regain independence, and guide them toward improving their quality of life. This program includes specialized modules for rehabilitation in cognition, communication, behavior modification and restorative functioning. Under the guidance of Masters level counselors, participants are able to create personal goals for development in these areas and receive individualized care and attention in achieving these goals through group therapy and one to one counseling. In addition to assisting residents, counselors also provide support to families affected by this life altering injury.
